The Legal Story

Fanatics for Freshness® since 1950

Legal Sea Foods was born in 1950, when George Berkowitz opened a fresh fish market adjacent to his father’s Legal Cash Market. This was soon followed by our first restaurant location in Cambridge, Massachusetts in 1968. Our “Legal” name has been synonymous with quality and freshness ever since.

A fish company in the restaurant business, and over 60 years in the making, today Legal Sea Foods owns and operates 30+ restaurant locations along the Eastern Seaboard.

See Fish Fly

In 1975 we launched our Mail Order and Gourmet Gifts Division, sending live lobsters and seafood packages anywhere in the Continental U.S. in as little as 24 hours. Sounds crazy, right? Well what better way to share our passion for fresh seafood than to deliver—from our dock to your door.

See fish fly and experience the “Legal Difference.”

Can frozen be fresh?

Quite simply, yes! To maintain the quality and integrity of our products, some products may ship frozen, or with dry ice, which may freeze the product(s) during transit. See page 14 for additional shipping and delivery information.

All products in this catalog are produced in a facility that processes fish, shellfish, milk, soy, wheat, egg, peanuts, and tree nuts.

From Dock to Table

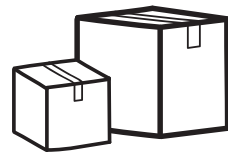

Enjoy the same high quality seafood products served in our restaurant locations—from our dock to your door.

YOUR EXPERIENCE IS IMPORTANT TO US!

Each package fulfillment associate is trained on food safety and best practices, to ensure that your order is perfectly packed. After completion, our quality assurance specialist will review your package for accuracy before it is approved to ship.

For live lobsters, layers of sea water soaked thirsty pads are also included for comfortable travel. Everything is then placed in a molded, reusable styrofoam cooler that is surrounded by corrugated cardboard for additional insulation. Each box is branded and marked as "Perishable" with orientation arrows to eliminate tousling and to ensure safe travel.
